2. DIRECTORS

The following additional comments apply to directors of the Company and aim to ensure directors have a clear understanding of the Company’s expectations of their conduct.

2.1. Fiduciary duties

All directors have a fiduciary relationship with the shareholders of the Company. A director occupies a unique position of trust with shareholders, which makes it unlawful for directors to improperly use their position to gain advantage for themselves.

2.2. Duties of directors

Each director must endeavour to ensure that the Company is properly managed so as to protect and enhance the interests of all shareholders. To this end, directors need to devote sufficient time and effort to understand the Company's operations.

Directors should ensure that shareholders and the ASX are informed of all material matters which require disclosure and avoid or fully disclose conflicts of interest.

2.3. Conflict of interest

At all times a director must be able to act in the interests of the Company. Where the interests of associates, the personal interest of a director or a director's family may conflict with those of the Company, then the director must immediately disclose such conflict and either:

- (a) eliminate the conflict, or
- (b) abstain from participation in any discussion or decision-making process in relation to the subject matter of the conflict.

Executive directors must always be alert to the potential for a conflict of interest between their roles as executive managers and their fiduciary duty as directors.

2.4. Insider trading

Information concerning the activities or proposed activities of the Company, which is not public and which could materially affect the Company's share price must not be used for any purpose other than valid Company requirements.

2.5. Executive Officers

It is the responsibility of the Executive Officers to provide a written declaration to the Board that, in their opinion:

- (a) the financial records of the Company have been properly maintained;
- (b) the financial statements comply with the appropriate accounting standards;
- (c) the financial reports submitted to the Board represent a true and fair view of the Company's financial position and performance; and

- (d) that the opinion has been formed on the basis of a sound system of risk management and internal control which is operating effectively.

3. STAKEHOLDERS

The Board recognises that the primary stakeholders in the Company are its shareholders. Other legitimate stakeholders in the Company include employees, customers and the general community.

The Company's primary objective is to create shareholder wealth through capital growth and dividends by the continued development of its business. This is achieved by:

Staff members must not engage in any act that could be interpreted as seeking or receiving a bribe, secret commission or questionable payment. Decisions made by staff members in the course of their work must be objective and based solely upon the best interest of the Company. They should never be influenced by any consideration of personal gain or gain to any personal associate (e.g. friend or relative). Except as noted below, staff members may neither seek nor accept gifts, payments, services, fees, pleasure or vacation trips or accommodation, or loan (except normal loans from regular lenders, on conventional terms) from any person, organisation or group that does business or is seeking to do business with the Company or any of its affiliates, or from a competitor of the Company or any of its affiliates.

5. ANTI-BRIBERY & CORRUPTION

Australia has strict laws against bribery and corruption. The anti-bribery laws of some countries including Australia, the United States and United Kingdom can apply to actions carried out in other countries (i.e. wide-reaching extra-territorial effect). You must comply with and uphold all laws against bribery, corruption and related conduct applying to the Company in all the jurisdictions where the Company operates.

Corrupt conduct involves the dishonest or partial use of power or position which results in one person/group being advantaged over another. Corruption can take many forms including, but not limited to:

- a) official misconduct;
- b) bribery and blackmail;
- c) unauthorised use of confidential information;
- d) fraud; and
- e) theft.

Accordingly, the Company has a strict policy not to offer or receive secret commissions or bribes to further its business interests.

VIP Gloves is committed to adopting effective systems to counter bribery and related improper conduct and to monitor and enforce these systems.

This includes:

- a) being aware of and acknowledging the serious criminal and civil penalties that may be incurred and the reputational damage that may be done if the organisation is involved in bribery or corruption;
- b) prohibiting the giving of bribes or other improper payments or benefits to public officials;
- c) prohibiting the payment of secret commissions to those acting in an agency or fiduciary capacity.
- d) include appropriate controls around political donations and offering or accepting gifts, entertainment or hospitality.
- e) provide training of managers and employees likely to be exposed to bribery or corruption about how to recognise and deal with it.
- f) report breaches of the policy to the appropriate person or body within the organisation (the board should be informed of any material incidents of bribery or corruption, as they may be indicative of issues with the culture of the organisation)

The Company may issue further guidance regarding what is acceptable in the normal course, what you can do with senior manager or Board approval and what is prohibited.

Corrupt conduct will not be tolerated by the Company. Disciplinary action up to and including dismissal will be taken in the event of any employee participating in corrupt conduct as outlined under the Anti-bribery and Corruption Policy, which is available on the Company's website. It provides guidance so that you understand the policy and process to report a breach.

6. DISCRIMINATION, BULLYING, HARASSMENT AND VILIFICATION

Employees must not harass, discriminate, or support others who harass and discriminate against colleagues or members of the public on the grounds of sex, pregnancy, marital status, age, race (including their colour, nationality, descent, ethnic or religious background), physical or intellectual impairment, homosexuality or transgender.

Such harassment or discrimination may constitute an offence under legislation. Managers should understand and apply the principles of Equal Employment Opportunity.

It is company policy that any intimate personal relationship between persons working at VIP Gloves should be disclosed to management.

The Company is committed to ensuring a diverse work environment in which everyone is treated fairly and with respect and where everyone feels responsible for the reputation and performance of the Company.

7. WHISTLEBLOWER PROTECTION

You are encouraged to report any actual or suspected unethical behaviour including excess waste or breach of the Company's codes and policies to your manager or the company secretary or any other contact nominated by the Company. Matters raised will be investigated.

The Company is committed to ensuring that you can raise concerns in good faith without being disadvantaged in any way to the extent that the law permits.

The Company's Whistleblower Protection Policy is available on the Company's website. It provides guidance so that you understand the policy and process to report a breach.

8. HEALTH & SAFETY

The Company is committed to ensuring the health and safety of its employees, consultants, contractors and visitors to its workplace and any other persons who the Company works with, as required by law.

It is the responsibility of all employees to act in accordance with occupational health and safety legislation, regulations and policies applicable to their respective organisations and to use security and safety equipment provided.

Specifically all employees are responsible for safety in their work area by:

- following the safety and security directives of management;
- advising management of areas where there is potential problem in safety and reporting suspicious occurrences; and
- minimising risks in the workplace.

The Company will not tolerate the use of illegal drugs or improperly used prescription medicine, or alcohol (except for moderate consumption at social events) when performing work for the Company or conducting business on the Company's behalf. The possession, use, sale or offering or distribution of illegal drugs or other controlled substances is forbidden.

9. CONFIDENTIALITY

It is a policy of the Company to provide information honestly and openly to those who have a legitimate interest in its operations. In addition to formal reports to regulatory authorities and reports to the public and shareholders required by statute, the Company may provide extensive information on its activities by way of a variety of publications and through continuing working relations with news media, financial analysts and others. The extent, timing and form of such public disclosure are matters for senior management. Apart from concern for the privacy of staff members, the Company also operates in a competitive business environment. Consequently, it would be inappropriate for the Company to disclose information, which if published, might impair its own effectiveness and competitiveness.

Accordingly, Company documents such as circulars, manuals, records and internal communications materials, especially materials marked 'Confidential', must never be shown to outsiders without proper authorisation. Care should be exercised in conversations about the Company with outsiders or with fellow staff members in public places.

The obligation of staff members to safeguard the privacy of fellow members of staff, to protect the confidentiality of the Company's own affairs, and to protect the Company's proprietary interests continues with equal force if the staff member leaves the service of the Company.

In conversations with customers or other staff members and when on the telephone, care must be taken to prevent outsiders from overhearing confidential personal information.

Information should not be divulged over the telephone unless the identity of the caller and his or her right to receive the information are definitely established. Particular care should also be taken in answering enquiries and data given must be limited to that permitted by standard Company practice. Appropriate legal advice should be obtained where doubt exists.

The same considerations apply to the privacy rights of members of staff and similar care to avoid breaching these rights must be exercised by those staff members who, by reason of their position, may have knowledge of another staff member's private affairs.

10. BREACH OF THE CODE OF CONDUCT

The highest standards of corporate conduct are critical to the Company's success and reputation. The values and policies in this code are not exhaustive. This code is designed to focus you on particular values identified by the Company as central to its integrity.

Compliance with this code will be monitored and any known or suspected breaches of this code will be investigated.

Employees should note that breaches of sections of this Code of Conduct may be punishable under legislation and may lead to disciplinary action including termination of employment.

The Company strives for full, fair and accurate disclosure of financial and other information on a timely basis as outlined under the Continuous Disclosure Policy.

A copy of this code is available on the Company's website and distributed to all directors, employees and other persons as relevant. A summary of this code will be published in the annual corporate governance statement.
